Program Goal:
The Best Use of Idaho Wood Architectural Design Awards is a partnership between the Idaho Forest Products Commission, American Institute of Architects Idaho Chapter and the University of Idaho College of Art and Architecture. The objective of the partnership is to encourage, recognize and support the creative and innovative use of Idaho wood in architectural design.

Previous Competition Winners:
2016 - Ruina Du
2015 - Caleb Ehly

Competition Jurors:
Jesse Short | Plant Manager, Idaho Forest Group
Scott Lawrence | Assistant Professor of Architecture, University of Idaho
John Day | AIA- Idaho Chapter President, Sichter | Ugrin Architecture
Alec Holser | Opsis Architecture, AIA

Public Speaker - Alec Holser
“Wood Design: Connecting Sustainability and Beauty in a Regional Architecture”

Program Goal:
The Best Use of Idaho Wood Architectural Design Awards is a partnership between the Idaho Forest Products Commission, American Institute of Architects Idaho Chapter and the University of Idaho College of Art and Architecture. The objective of the partnership is to encourage, recognize and support the creative and innovative use of Idaho wood in architectural design.

University of Idaho
College of Art and Architecture