Trees and Forest Products
by Reese

Trees are my favorite thing.

Trees give oxygen to people. The forests have hills with green grass for cows to go grazing in. Also, they are used for building hard, wooden homes. Trees can be cut down by big trucks to make big bonfires. You can go hiking in the bumpy mountains. There is forests with rivers, so people can go fishing. We can go bike riding on smooth trails, that are in the forests.
We can go camping at lakes, and watch birds fly. For these reasons, forest products are important to my family and our community.
